CEO News

I'm going to follow the lead of our illustrious media here and talk about Covid, but unlike the media I will be brief, and even manage to talk about other things as well. It was terrific to see so many of you lining up for your first shot of the Covid vaccination when the clinic was in Cowell last month. I suspect that despite the media's best efforts to frighten you, that you will all be lining up for the second shot of the Astra Zenneca when the clinic is back in Cowell in August, as will I. That is what country people do, they just get on and do what needs to be done. I am an early riser and get up early and watch half an hour of ABC News each morning before doing much else, but must say that I am suffering from Covid fatigue, because it seems to be all they ever talk about. Despite the daily drama's portrayed in the media I think Australia has done, and continues to do, exceptionally well in what is an evolving and challenging situation. We will as a nation be well on the way by years end to having everyone that wants to be vaccinated being vaccinated. Strong border control and the resulting extremely low case numbers has made vaccination much less urgent than in most countries but it is happening, and it is progressing well.

I think we may also be suffering from road works fatigue. It doesn't seem to matter where you go now it takes considerably longer to get there because of what feels like an endless stream of roadworks in every direction, country and city. Although this is a little inconvenient at times, it really is a great positive and our road networks will be in great condition in coming years courtesy of the very large amounts of stimulus money currently flowing into the economy. The downside for a small regional council is that we simply can't get contractors at the moment which is why the Cowell-Kimba road is yet to be repaired after its Harvest traffic damage. The good news is that we have submitted a very strong case for government funding to widen the entire length of the Cowell-Kimba Road and to reseal it over the next three years to make it fit for purpose for the volume of heavy vehicle traffic it now carries during harvest with grain trucks en-route to Lucky Bay. We are now commencing some patching works on this road while we wait for our external contractor to arrive.

Speaking of harvest, seeding is largely complete and it has started to rain and there seems to be plenty of rain in the forecast for now. Let's hope it keeps coming and our farmers have a good season. I am unintentionally working a continual cropping regime of weeds in my lawn in Cowell. Despite my determined efforts, they just keep coming. There will be smiles all round if this years wheat crop grows as well as the weeds in my lawn.

The Foreshore Project

The last load of marina pontoons are only weeks away now, and by the time they arrive all remaining civil works on the marina construction will be complete. The construction of this marina has been something of a "marathon" but we are nearing the finish line and the end result is looking very impressive.

The Marina building footings are being poured this week so you will soon see the more interesting and visible above ground construction of this building commence. The inground reticulation tank for the Aquatic Playground has been constructed, and the building pad prepared so construction of this key component of the Foreshore upgrade can now commence. There will be a lot of activity in coming weeks shaping and levelling the areas to be landscaped.

We have in recent days deployed our road crew to the foreshore to prepare the Aquatic Park building pad and build up the sub-base for the new road. If you were watching this you could not help but to have been impressed. With their efforts, knowledge, experience and equipment this team turned a goat track into a road in two days.

Book Club

Join us for our next meeting on Tuesday 29th June @ 11am in the library. You don't have to be a devoted reader or a literature buff to join in. Everyone is welcome to share thoughts and reviews on books they've read and check out our new additions.

Writer's Group

Enjoy creative writing & want to share your work with knowledge of how to start our own seed library here in others? Maybe you're interested in listening to other people share their creative work. Writer's Group is meeting again on Wednesday 7th July @ 2.30pm in the library. Come a long and check out what the group has to offer.

Book Rehoming Project

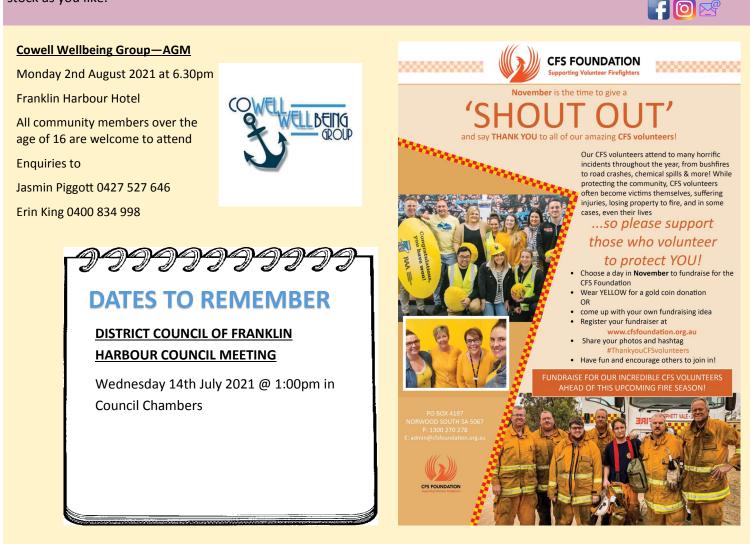

We've recently retired some of our Adult Fiction books and we'd love to find them a new home. If anyone would like to top up their caravans or shacks with some used books, the books would be very appreciative and so would we. Pop into the library and collect as many items from of our retired stock as you like.

Cowell Seed & Plant Exchange

Thank you to everyone who came along to our "Grow me instead" session with Landscape SA presented by Barbara Murphy. We are in the process of securing some copies of the resources Barb shared during her talk and hope to have them available soon. Our next meeting is on Tuesday 27th July @ 10.45am in the library. It will be a workshop with Lita from The Seed Library and will hopefully provide us with the Cowell. Please feel free to bring any produce or plants you may like to share/ exchange at our next group.

School Holiday Hours

School holidays start on Monday 5th July and as such our hours will revert to school holiday hours. We will be open Tuesdays, Wednesdays & Thursdays only, from 8.30 – 4pm. Normal hours will resume from Monday 19th July. There may be a last minute change to the holidays hours, so please check the school newsletter & our Facebook page for more details.

Hello Whyalla, Port Augusta, Port Pirie, Clare Valley and Barossa Valley regions!

Can we help you improve your health?

We are planning the inaugural IIMPACT Rural Health Outreach Tour...

...a community and health professional education and engagement initiative, to be run in September 2021 and we are visiting a town near you!

We have a team of world-renowned researchers and a growing network of clinical, consumer and community partners who are keen to share their health-related knowledge with you.

BUT we need to hear from rural community members and health professionals exactly what topics you would like our health experts to cover.

Please visit www.bit.ly/RuralTourSurvey to participate in a 2-3 minute online survey and help shape this exciting series of events in your community.

We want advice from as many South Australians as possible, 18 years or over who live outside metropolitan Adelaide.

For further information please contact tracy.jones@unisa.edu.au or 8302 2454

We look forward to hearing from and meeting you soon.

THE FARM (part 1)

The first sections bought by William were 34 and 35 in the hundred of Miltalie, section 113 and 114 in the hundred of Minbrie, later section 14 of Miltalie was added, and later again William bought section 11 of Miltalie from William Story in 1895, this was only a grazing block which was well placed as far as water was concerned. Near the watering site a shepherd hut was built, possibly by the Melrose family, at the present time it is only a heap of rubble and rocks. Sections 11 and 34 were the watering areas for Miltalie as was 113 for Minbrie. I will deal with the situation of water in more detail later.

The total farm area was just over 1400 acres, of this there were about 610 acres that were arable, the balance being good average grazing to rough scrubby hills.

Before the clearing of sections 113 and 114 of Minbrie, the original road was surveyed through these blocks making it very difficult for the working of agricultural land that this area contained. There would have been about eight areas, with two or three with ten acres or less. In order to keep the bulk of land in a large workable area, William put a plan to the Franklin Harbour Council that the road be constructed on the southern side of these blocks from the hundred line to meet the road originally surveyed. William also agreed to give who ever was owner of the property of part 1D Minbrie unrestricted rights to travel through his property on to the main road. The Council accepted these propositions, and the road was duly constructed At the time the owner was his elder son, William.

The clearing of the White Hill paddock was a much harder proposition. The huge mallee scrub had to be cut down by axe, and the stumps from these trees took years to be killed. Shoots were a real problem, which had to be dealt with while the shoot was reasonably small, this job was a constant problem for many years. Native pine trees covered the flats in this paddock. These also were cleared with the axe, but where the mallee scrub was burnt the trunks of the pine trees were cut into post lengths and used for fencing. These fence posts of the older trees lasted well, there were some posts still in the line after 80 years.

This then left section 14 Miltalie, which we named School

Hill paddock because of the fact that two acres of land was sold to the Education Department so that the children in the early years were able to get their schooling. The land in this paddock varied a great deal, from very heavy clay types, to very stony ground on the rises and white sand over clay on the flats. School paddock was a terribly stony field and many days and months were spent in picking stones. There was one year when a great endeavor was made to pick stones from all the 220 acres. There were three of us on the job, one on each side and one at the rear of the dray.

We had a special horse for the dray called Roger, he was a big upstanding horse and very powerful. For days on end we would pick up to twenty loads in a day, these dray loads of stone were carted to nearby stone heaps. After playing football on Saturdays it was very painful on the hands, especially if the conditions were frosty. The poor old fingers that were affected by being slightly out of joint soon responded to the task of lifting stones and pulling them out of the soil.

On this particular year we spent three months of continuous work on stone picking. We would clean up part of the land then the horse team would be put to work ploughing while the other men continued picking stones. These days the work is being done by stone rakes and front end loaders and what's more the job is more thorough because you've got steel instead of the poor old fingers.
